This report was put together by the Ministry of Natural Resources and Environment in collaborations with relevant stakeholders, academic and science base institutions, public consultations through awareness and training workshops shown great appreciation support and strengthens the biosafety issue in Samoa. Upon ratification of the Cartagena Protocol, the government of Samoa has been developing the National Biosafety Framework to address biosafety issue and to implement its obligations under the Protocol.

A number of workshops have been conducted in the past years, mainly focused on raising awareness based on currently available scientific information taking into account risks and benefits obtained from modern biotechnology. Training Workshops on Building Capacity for Effective Participation in the Biosafety Clearing House (BCH), targeting the relevant stakeholder. Having established a BCH website for Samoa is very vital to educate people on GM products hence the exchange of information.

Stakeholders include relevant Government organizations, Non Government Organizations (NGOs), private firms and Academic institutions.
